

Kristmas Karnophage

Karnophages are the unfortunate by-product of many Heretics that worship the Apostle of Insanity, Muawijhe. Once human, the Stigmata of the Black Hunger drives their bodies down a path of devolution, becoming more animalistic. The Karnophage's jaw has distended to allow the new, large fangs that replace the Heretics teeth and their nails grow large and steel-hard, turning into claws. Their Black Hunger feeds upon the madness within and pushes the Karnophage to feed, constantly, on freshly killed meat. They are fearless hunters with animal senses and an internal madness that makes them incredibly hard to control, even by fellow cult members.

The Kristmas Karnophage is a rare example of this Stigmata. These Heretics worked long hours dealing with children during the Holidays, dressed in an ancient folklore outfit, in many of the Megacorporation mass shopping venues. Many in the Inquisition believe that this fact alone drove the Heretics down the path of madness and into the hands of Muawijhe. Now a Kristmas Karnophage can occasionally be seen upon the battlefield, leading a group of Karnophages. The sack carried by the Kristmas Karnophage contains "gifts" for his foes, which he throws out during the battle. Some of these gifts are mutilated body parts, while other times they are grenades. The 2nd Directorate has a theory that the Kristmas Karnophage is stuck somewhat in its human past, where the gift giving was constant and unappreciated. Now the Kristmas Karnophage just throws them out indiscriminately, not caring about the results.

The only other notable fact about the Kristmas Karnophage is that it hates the Children of Illian and will go to any length to kill them. Again, this seems to be linked to the Heretic's past dealing with children.

The Kristmas Karnophage is equipped with Claws, Teeth, a Turkey Cleaver and the Sack of Goodies*

Special Abilities:

- Enhanced Charge
- Predator Senses
- Fearless (never have to make a Morale Check)
- Hate: Children of Illian

Special Rules:

- "I ain't no Phage!", The Kristmas Karnophage still thinks that it is human and that the Karnophages that it leads are its "elves". To represent this, the Kristmas Karnophage can act as a Leader for a Squad of Karnophages. This allows the squad, if it is in Command Distance, to Activate along with the Kristmas Karnophage.
- Sack of Goodies: The sack contains all sorts of foulness from half eaten children to high explosives. When the Kristmas karnophage throws a Gift at a model, roll a d20. On 1-10 the Gift is a dismembered body part or old, broken toy and the targeted model is ok. On a 11-20 then the Gift is indeed a Grenade. Center the small explosion template over the targeted model. All affected models must make an armor roll with a DAM of 8.
